

Project Abstract

The second half of the project (which team AGDZW will be working on) will be a website for the ELTR app. This website will have multiple points of interest including but not limited to, a link to download the app, an account system that users can log into and link up with the app, an area for hosting animated videos of Adam Apple and his friends educating children on various types of healthy foods, and a "lesson plan" area for kids that includes downloadable pdf files of things like word searches, puzzles, coloring pages, mazes, or other fun and educational activities for younger children. The website should be easily changeable with new lesson plans with different activities updated regularly. While this project is separated into two different parts, it is expected that the two parts will have many intersecting functionalities. For this reason, both teams will be in close contact for the duration of the project.

Future Improvements/Revisions

Linking the website with app
Privacy, terms and conditions policy
